On April 12, 2011, President Obama received the first book of the Public Papers of the President of the United States from his administration. The 1,084-page book was presented in navy blue binding* with gold stamping by Public Printer Bill Boorman, Archivist David Ferriero, and Director of the Federal Register Ray Mosley.

Compiled by the National Archives and Records Administration's (NARA) Office of the Federal Register (OFR), the Public Papers of the Presidents contains the papers and speeches of the President that were issued by the Office of the Press Secretary during a specified time period.

Book 1 contains public writings, addresses, remarks, and photographs that occurred from January 20-June 30, 2009. Tweets, blogs, Facebook posts, and YouTube videos are not included in the Public Papers.

The Public Papers of the Presidents of the United States, Barack Obama, Book 1 will be distributed to Federal depository libraries in paper format under:
